SOUTH JORDAN, Utah, Jan. 05, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Cricut, Inc. ("Cricut") (NASDAQ: CRCT), the creative technology company that has brought a connected platform for making to millions of users worldwide, today announced that Marty Petersen, Chief Financial Officer, will retire effective September 30, 2022, and will transition out of the Chief Financial Officer role as of March 31, 2022. Kimball Shill, Executive Vice President of Operations, has been named his successor.

Petersen, 61, joined Cricut in 2012 as Chief Financial Officer, and has been responsible for all aspects of Cricut's global financial functions. Petersen will remain at the company as Executive Vice President and Senior Advisor through September 30, 2022, to ensure a smooth transition of responsibilities.

Shill, 58, will assume the role of Chief Financial Officer effective April 1, 2022, and report to Ashish Arora, Chief Executive Officer. For over 25 years, Shill has driven strategy and execution to scale high-growth companies across enterprise software, manufacturing, services and consumer goods.

"Marty has been instrumental in scaling Cricut into the billion-dollar, global company we are today. He has helped build a solid foundation as we continue to grow our engaged user base, expand our global footprint, and extend our platform," said Ashish Arora, Chief Executive Officer. "I am grateful for the past 10 years, his countless contributions, strong leadership, tenacity and our life-long friendship. I wish Marty all the best in his retirement."

Arora continued, "I am also pleased to promote Kimball Shill to the Chief Financial Officer role. Kimball has spent nearly three years on the executive team at Cricut and has played an important role in our strategic operations. Kimball's deep operational expertise, coupled with our strong finance leadership, positions us well for continued long-term revenue growth and profitability."

"This decision did not come easy. It's been an absolute privilege to work with such an outstanding team over these past 10 years. I want to thank Ashish, the entire Cricut team and the board of directors for their tremendous support during my time at Cricut," said Petersen.
